Overview

4

How we gather feedback:

- Prompt drivers weekly to share anonymous feedback.
- 90 second experience for drivers to share open-ended feedback.
- Link to share feedback is always live.
- Feedback is continuously reviewed using keyword and sentiment analysis.
- Feedback is categorized into 12 standardized themes.

5

Why we gather feedback this way:

- Surveys create bias.
- Open-ended feedback shows what drivers want to discuss.
- Feedback has to be addressed at the speed of business.
- Doing nothing with feedback is toxic. We have to close the feedback loop.

6

Comments

- The average comment is 224 characters long.
- That's about as long as a tweet.
- However, some drivers have a lot on their mind.
- Our longest comment was over 9k characters long.
- That's the equivalent of 3 full single-spaced pages of text!

9

How we close the feedback loop:

- Address urgent issues individually with drivers.
- Act on feedback to improve your company.
- Show empathy by responding to drivers weekly in fleet-wide broadcast message.

10

Communication is good.

Change is better.

11

Top Trends in 2019 Driver Feedback

12

Profile of the industry:

- Average driver age 55 years old
- 95% use smartphones daily
- 89% average annual driver turnover
- 50K+ driver shortage

13

Profile of drivers sharing feedback:

- All drivers work with carriers with 60+ trucks.
- Mix of dry van, reefer, tanker, intermodal, flatbed, and expedited freight.
- 77% Company Drivers
- 23% Owner Operators

14

2019 Summary Statistics:

- 39.8K Comments
- 16.3K Distinct Drivers
- 55 Distinct Companies
- 297 Average Drivers Engaged per Company

15

Comment Volume by Month

Number of Comments

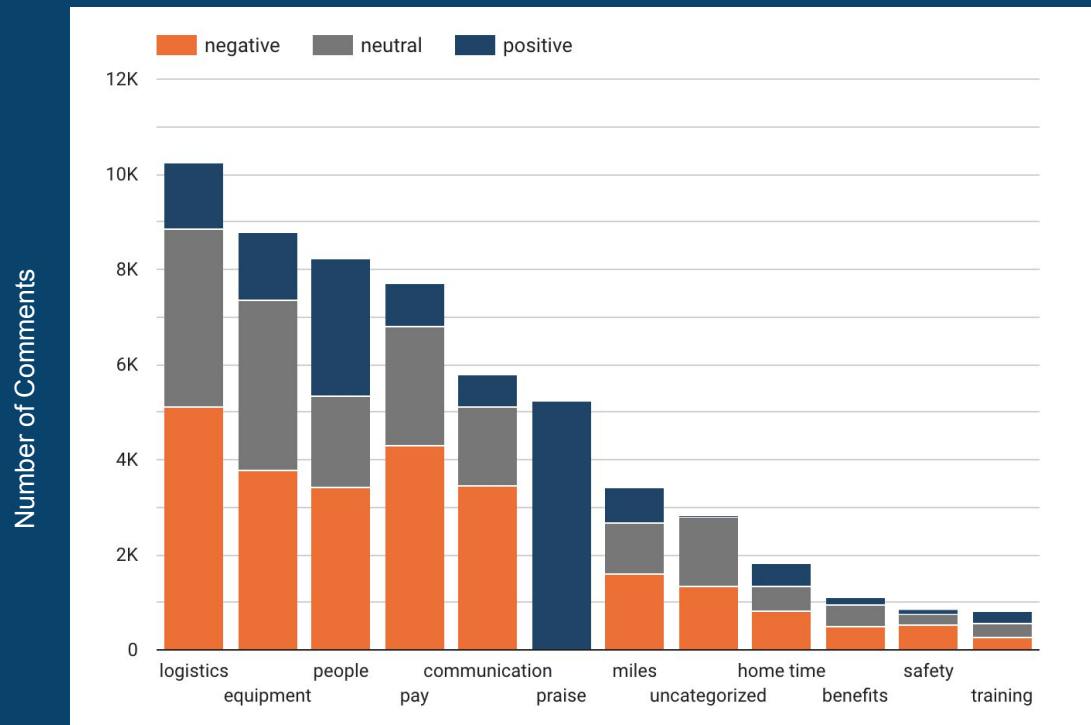

In summer months comment volume is nearly twice as high as in winter months. Indicating a possible annual cycle for driver feedback.

16

Total Comments by Themes

Logistics is the most frequently mentioned theme across the industry. One quarter of all comments are about logistics, but positivity tends to be particularly low for this theme.

17

Themes by Rate of Urgency

Though typically a low volume theme, safety is an issue with a high density of retention opportunities. As seen above, comments in the safety theme are twice as likely to be deemed urgent.

18

Comments by Sentiment

Companies often express concerns that feedback will be exclusively negative, but our data shows that ~30% of all comments are positive. Many drivers love what they do and are excited to share that information.

- Capturing the positivity drivers feel towards their company.
- Sentiment is the message.
- “All Good” is the most common expression.
- Drivers mentioned that they “love” their job or company ≈2k times!

20

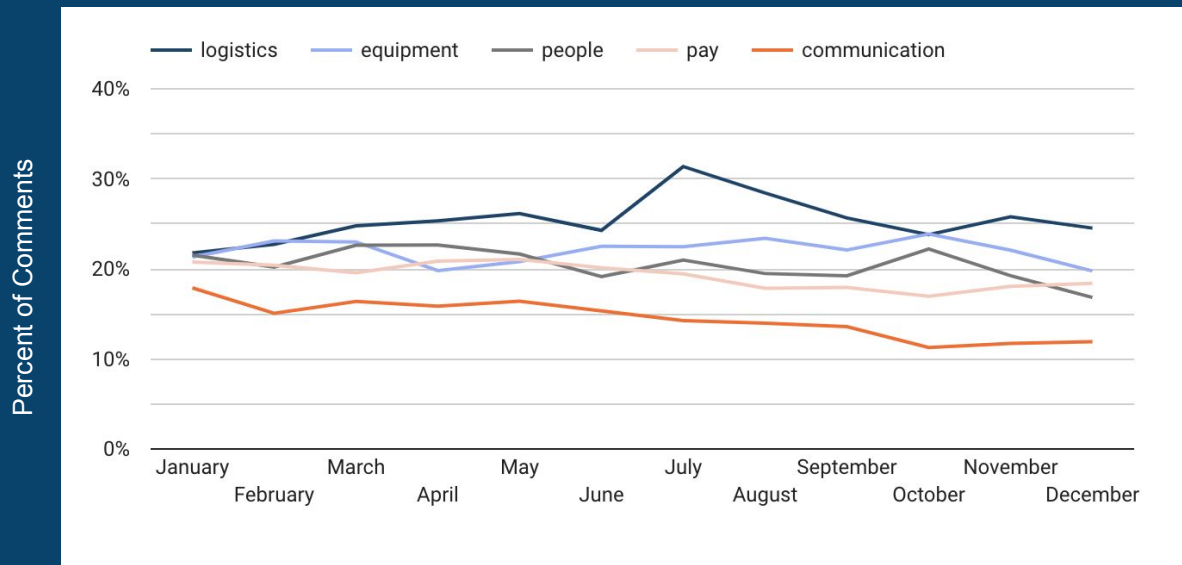

Top 5 Feedback Themes

1. Logistics
2. Equipment
3. People
4. Pay
5. Communication

Percentage of Comments by Theme

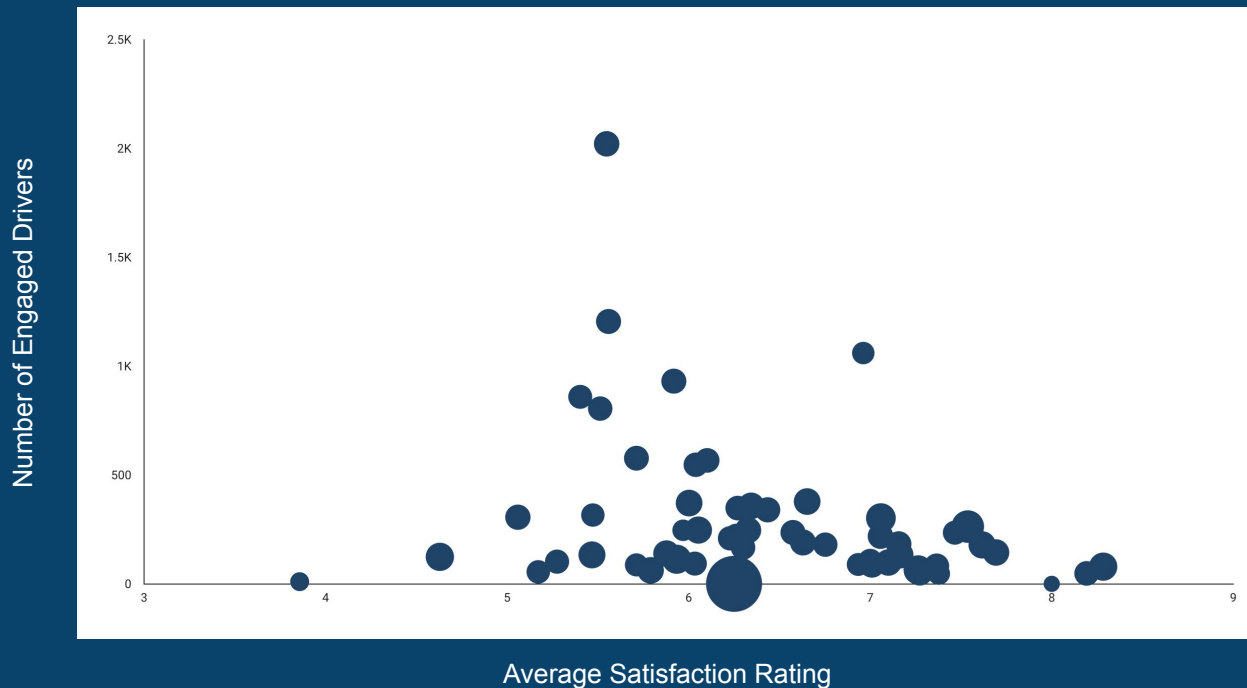

There is a substantial divide between high frequency themes and low frequency themes. High frequency themes tend to be relatively stable throughout the year and tend to cluster around the 20% line. Low frequency themes are typically below 5%.

22

Company Average Driver Satisfaction

Companies experience a wide range of levels of driver satisfaction, with large companies experiencing slightly lower levels, on average.

Driver Satisfaction by Theme

Average Satisfaction Rating

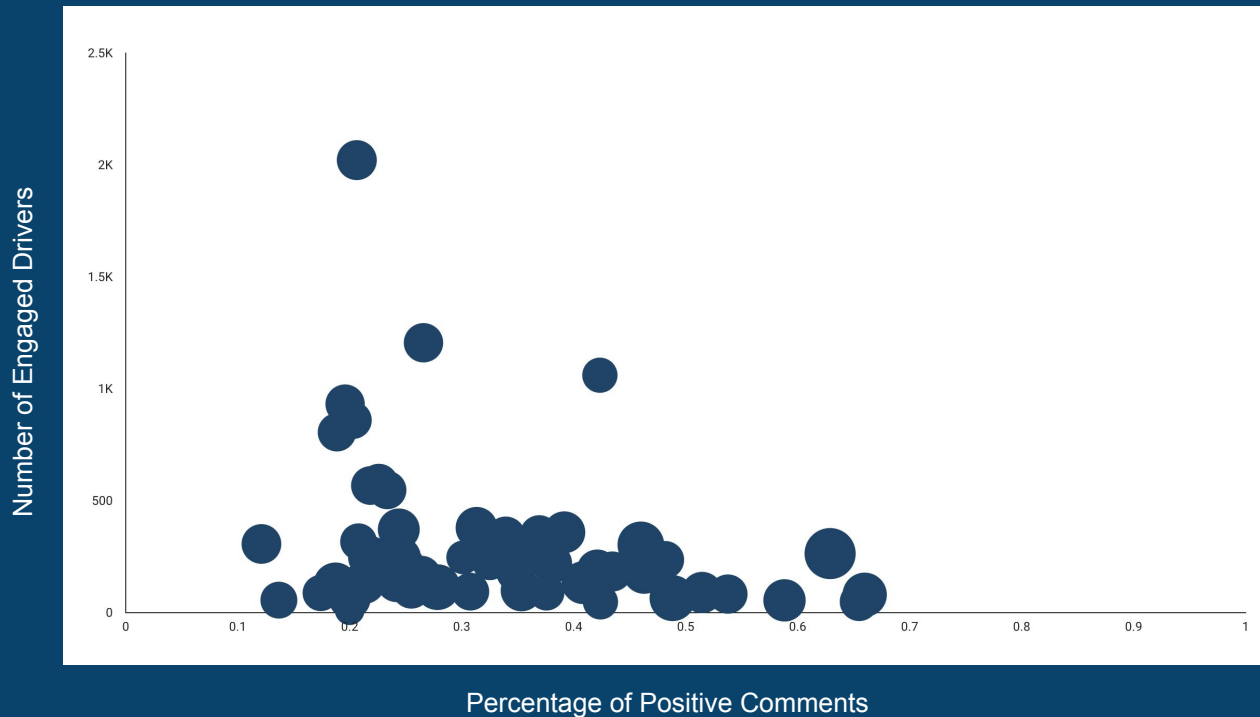

With regards to themes, driver satisfaction remains relatively stable throughout the year. Some variation can be seen among themes, but it is low compared to other factors.

24

Driver Comment Positivity

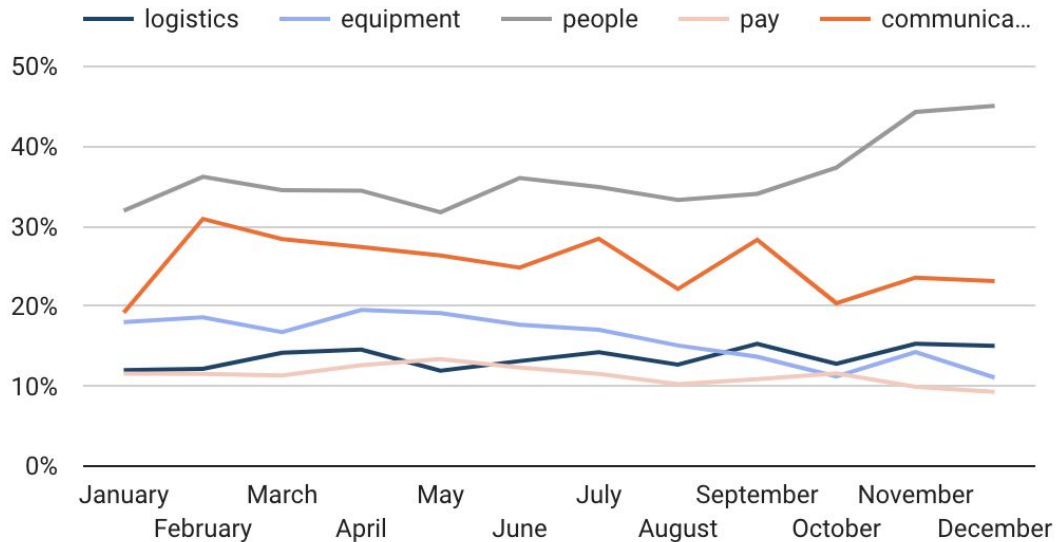

Companies experience a wide range of rates of positive feedback, with larger companies experiencing slightly lower rates, on average.

25

Driver Positivity by Theme

Percentage of Positive Comments

Unlike driver satisfaction, the percentage of positive comments exhibits a lot of variation between themes, as well as peaks and valleys within particular themes.

Tips for 2020

Tips for 2020

1. Logistics

Concerns about logistics are pervasive among drivers. Sitting and waiting is one of the most difficult things for them to do. They expect companies to keep them rolling. Resolving long delays at problematic shipping/receiving locations will make the biggest impact on driver satisfaction.

Tips for 2020

2. Equipment

Good, safe, clean equipment is an important point of pride for many drivers. There are many ways companies can ensure that the driver's equipment continues to be something they can be proud of. It can be as simple as making truck washes more available or helping reluctant drivers adapt to new technology through robust training programs.

Tips for 2020

3. People

You have great people! Celebrate them publicly and often. Recognize the good work of great drivers. But also, help these great drivers recognize the good work of others. Amplify their positive messages through internal channels and company programs.

Tips for 2020

4. Pay

Be sure to set proper expectations for new drivers. Retention problems early in the partnership frequently stem from misaligned expectations. Prompt and accurate payment solves much of the rest.

Tips for 2020

5. Communication

Drivers have a wealth of experience and operational knowledge. They appreciate being a part of the higher level decision-making. Include them in the process as early as possible and update them on progress regularly.

44

Conclusion

Conclusion

In 2019, WorkHound helped companies retain over eight thousand drivers across the industry.

Our platform empowers companies to blend open-ended driver feedback with analytics to create meaningful insights and make data-driven decisions. The WorkHound approach to open-ended feedback enables companies to gain insight outside their starting assumptions and focus on what is really important to drivers.

With WorkHound's help companies are able to close the feedback loop, creating the virtuous cycle of information that is essential to healthy organizations working to maintain high levels of worker satisfaction.
